145 RS—9

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS (SHRI CHANiDORA SHEKHAR SINGH): (a) No, Sir; Natural Gas is not being flared due to non-availability of bottling equipment for which adequate capacity is available in the country. Natural gas cannot be compressed and stdred in ylinders economically like LPG and supplied to retail consumers. It is being flared for reasons such as inadequate compression facilities offshore, inadequate infrastructural facilities downstream, failure of consumers to lift the committed offtake^ safey reasons, etc. The total quantity of natural gas that was flared during the year 1984-85, for which figures are available, is 3052 million cubic metres. The notional value of this gas computed at "he rate of Rs. 100 per thousand cubic metres, the lowest rate charged within the country, is Rs. 30.52 croree.

(b) No, Sir; with the installation of additional compressors and supply of gas to more consumers, the situa tion will improve considerably in the coming months.
